GEO. M. SNOOK & CO.—DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT.

GEO. M. SNOOK & CO.

Dress Goods Department.

Come, take a stroll through this, our largest and most important department. We'll commence at the Silk Counter.—More weaves and colors than we've ever had.—All the delicate tints shown in Satins, Surahs and Japanese Silks,—a good article of the latter at 50c per yard.—New dress shades in Faille and other Silks—sixteen separate and distinct weaves in Black Silks, including the late Moscovite or Chrystal weave. About prices and wear? We deal with the maker direct—this insures LOW prices.—The makers we deal with are RELIABLE.—It would not pay them to manufacture goods of uncertain quality.—This is not a matter of surprise then that our silk trade has grown to such large proportions.—Next we come to Henriettas.—It is particularly of Priestley's Silk Warp Henriettas that we desire to talk about.—They stand at the head for APPEARANCE and WEAR and cost but little more than obscure brands of doubtful merit.—Our All Wool Henriettas have stood the test of nearly eight years.—See our two special leaders at 79 and 98 cents.—Every new color in Henriettas.—Lack of space will not permit of further mention, but we will continue this subject next week. Ask to be shown the two books of "Paris Fashions," just received.

MILLINERY OPENING.
Our opening of Fall and Winter Hats and Bonnets will occur on Wednesday of next week, October 7, 1891. We will show styles that will surprise the ladies.

LOU SWABACKEL.

RETAIL DEPARTMENT.

A. L. RICE & CO., 1130 Main Street.

Our Annual Fall and Winter Opening for the season of 1891 and 1892 will occur on Wednesday of this week, September 30th, on which occasion we will display an elegant collection of Pattern Hats and Bonnets from the leading modistes of New York, Paris and London, together with novel and original creations from our own work room.

The styles embraced in this collection represent the latest novelties of the Paris and London markets, in Round Hats and Bonnets for street, dress, carriage and evening wear, selected with unusual care and with special reference to a cultivated and fastidious taste in millinery of a high order.

An unusual prominence will be given to English Hat Hats, of novel and varied designs, which the growing preference for this class of head-wear demands, also medium and large Dress and Evening Hats.

We extend a cordial invitation to the ladies of Wheeling and vicinity to be present on this occasion, and remain

Council this Evening.

A special meeting of the City Council has been called for this evening to formally declare the result of Saturday's election on the new bridge loan and to pay the officers of election for their services, and also to elect a new commissioner of the electric light loan vice Mr. Simpson, resigned.

Atlantic Engine House Changes.
The Atlantic engine has been temporarily moved into the new compartment built for the city patrol wagon. It is expected that the alterations in the house will be done so as to be occupied by the wagon, engine and reel by Thursday, or Friday at furthest. The improvement is already very perceptible.

Transfers Recorded.
Clerk Hook yesterday admitted to record two deeds of trust and the following transfers of real estate:

September 5 by W. J. W. Cowden to Patrick O'Neil, for $232 50, part of lot 10 in the Joseph Caldwell addition.
March 7, 1889, by Mary A. Morrison to William Smith, for $13, the west half of burial lot 782, in the Peninsular Cemetery.

Golf at Bellaire To-Night.
Gen. Nathan Goff will speak on the Public Square, at Bellaire, this evening. It is expected a number of Wheeling people will go down to hear him. The Democrats of Bellaire are making a big effort to make their meeting on Friday night a great big one, and the Republicans ought to set them an example. Gov. Campbell and ex-Gov. Windy Wilson are to be there Friday, and the Y. M. D. C. has been invited to go down with its good clothes and fancy banners.

Change of Fire Alarm Wires.
Electrician Seeley yesterday made a tour of the city with Manager M. R. Wolff, manager of the Telephone exchange, with a view to deciding how to arrange the city fire alarm wires. Mr. Seeley said the wires ought to be on the telephone poles; that it would cost $2,000 more to fit up the electric light poles for these wires. Mr. Happy, therefore ordered the alarm wires strung on the telephone poles, and the old alarm system poles will all be taken down.

Prof. Tribble's Funeral.
The funeral of the late vice president of Bethany college, Prof. J. M. Tribble, took place from the Christian church, at Bethany, Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, Rev. Dr. A. McLean, the former president, officiating. A large number of the deceased's friends from Buffalo, Wheeling and other places were present, besides the students and faculty, and some members of the board of trustees. The pallbearers were Professors Dowling, Schmittle, Woolery, Blaupied, Snyder and Wynn. The remains were interred in the old Campbell cemetery.

This Remarkable Weather.
The hot weather holds on amazingly. Yesterday the temperature was as high as on the previous days. The sky clouded up somewhat, but all hopes of a rain proved delusive. Toward the close of the day a life-giving breeze sprang up, tempering the air pleasantly, but the sun was as hot as it usually gets in August. It has not rained since the first day of the State Fair, September 7, the drought having lasted just three weeks up to yesterday.

Some farmers say that the signs portend an early winter, there being an unusual activity among the squirrels. Others say that the squirrels are hustling simply because the nut crop was a failure and it will take a longer time to lay in their supply of food for the winter.

BRONCK BLOOD BITTERS taken after eating will relieve any feeling of weight or over fullness of the stomach. Sold everywhere. D&W

THE STATE LINE ROAD.

A Statement that it is not a Dead Project Yet.

The Wellsburg Herald has the following, the latter end of which shows more temper than judgment:

President Meyran, of the State Line railroad, accompanied by some other Pittsburgh gentlemen interested in the project, we are reliably advised, have just returned from a conference with the parties in New York, also interested in it, and report everything encouraging. The financial outlook is very different now from what it was some months ago, shortly after the fiasco in Ohio county, when everything looked gloomy and men were loth to invest in anything in which they did not see immediate and large returns; since then the country has been blessed with one of the most abundant harvests in its history and foreign gold instead of being drained out of the country, is coming in by the million to purchase the surplus. This gold is waiting investment and it will be invested in more western railroad enterprises, and this enterprise, in question, stands very high in their estimation. If a proper encouragement is given in the way of rights of way and local subscriptions across the line in Pennsylvania, our informant advised us that the great probability is that the line will be under contract, yet, inside of six months from date.

The Ohio county refusal of the $100,000 subscription, he tells us, has no effect now, whatever, the managers having simply slightly changed their plans; and any connection with or interest in the matter of a Wheeling connection is abandoned. The project, in other words, is an entirely separate one from any thing in contemplation there. This idea, as a very possible probability, was more or less strongly intimated at the Chamber of Commerce interview last night at Wheeling by Meyran, but for some reason or other, the Wheeling audience of business men did not attach the importance to what he had to say that they might have done. We were present at the meeting and heard and saw it all, and we noted the indifference hardly amounting to decent courtesy that prevailed and made a note of it in the Herald afterward.

It may be set down as a fixed fact that the State Line Railroad is still a very live corpse and it would not be at all surprising if it be upon its feet and kicking before the year is out.

In the Circuit Court.

Mary Shull was yesterday granted a divorce in the Circuit Court from her husband, H. M. Shull.

In the case of the Wheeling Bridge and Terminal Railway Company vs. Elizabeth Emblen, the defendant's motion for a new trial was withdrawn and the Terminal company directed to pay $3,600 to Mrs. Emblen and take a title to the property.

The jury in the condemnation case of the Terminal company vs. Isaiah Warren awarded the defendant $3,040 damages. The award of the commissioners was but $3,010. Both sides yesterday made motions for a new trial.

The appeal case of Martin Manion, fined in police court for disorder, was tried to a jury and Manion was pronounced not guilty.

The appeal case of Kitty Lynn, fined for keeping a house of ill fame, was also tried.

"The White Slave" To-night.

Of "The White Slave," one of Bartley Campbell's best plays, which is to have its farewell presentation at the Opera House to-night, the Philadelphia Press says:

"The White Slave" has seldom been more effectively acted than it was by H. C. Kennedy's company at the National last night. The interest manifested by the immense audience, both in the intelligent performance of the company and the unusually picturesque staging of the play, was keen and unswerving throughout. Miss Julia Stuart is new in the part of Lisa, but her personation was highly creditable in every way. Milton Barlow, the well-known minstrel, made a hit as Job, the negro preacher, and Frank Drew, as Lawyer Stinch, Frank Karrington, as Clay Britton, and Ida Robinson, as Nance, were frequently called before the curtain.

"Uncle Isaac."

This successful comedy will be seen at the Wheeling Opera House on Thursday evening. "Uncle Isaac" should be witnessed by all lovers of refined comedy. It is a strong play, an interesting story, pure in tone, refined in sentiment, enlivened by beautiful singing, excellent dancing and clever musical specialties. It is a tribute to the worth and dignity of Hebrew character, and presents a character new to the stage with all the accessories a fine play and a good company can give. The sale of seats opens at C. A. House's music store this morning.

We can always do a trifle better than any other house. JULIUS JACOBS,

Best Qualities.

Do you ever get a little mixed by reading advertisements? Strange if you don't! Two or three or half a dozen stores can't each have the "best" or cheapest of the same thing. Must be mistakes somewhere. It doesn't follow that a merchant is deliberately lying to you when he publishes a wrong statement like that. It may be attributable to ignorance or false reasoning. Perhaps he puts a meagre profit on his COST PRICE and assumes that no other dealer will get below him—not a safe thing to do, some one else may buy lower than he or sell for cost or less. It isn't safe for an ordinary dealer to make a positive statement in such matters. It isn't wise. A confident customer in that way may be deceived—once or twice, but not often. A sound, healthy business can't be built on such a basis—either of
